

Registered Nurse Self-Publishes "Millionaire, RN" Novel Series During Global Pandemic

Proceeds Committed to Helping Single Parent Households

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, USA, January 25, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Registered Nurse Shannon Spears debuts her long-awaited, self-published novel series, "Millionaire, RN: Part One" (Knight Engale Publishing). The narrative, based on Spears' personal experience, focuses on a nurse whose character is tested when she is forced to raise a child as a single mother due to a failed relationship. Spears penned the series during the global pandemic while working to save the lives of patients while risking hers in the process. The pandemic forced her to homeschool her child full-time with little to no support, and she incorporated her own challenges into the storyline.

Nurse Spears has a passion for helping and healing others and has selflessly committed to donating all proceeds generated from book sales to The Phenomenal Human Project, a non-profit organization that offers resources to single-parent households.

"My goal is to assist disadvantaged households to supplement lack, especially those with school-aged children. This includes assisting with rent payments to prevent homelessness from covering utility payments so that distanced learning is not affected and providing food vouchers to help combat hunger."

In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, nurses have been forced into healthcare combat. Spears' program, The Divine Nurse, creates a space for nurses to explore opportunities away from the bedside that empowers them to start their own businesses. An extension of Divine Nurse is the 'nursepreneur' program that coaches nurses on how to write.

"Millionaire, RN Part One" is available now via Amazon. "Millionaire, RN: Part Two" releases Thursday, Feb. 25, 2021, via Amazon.

Knight Engale debuts her first nursing novel.
