FDA Approved FaStep COVID19 IgM/IgG Rapid Tests

What does Point-of-Care (POC) mean?

This authorization means finger stick blood samples can now be tested in POC setting like Doctor Offices, Hospitals, Urgent Care Centers, Emergency Rooms, Pharmacies and Dental practices rather than having blood drawn to be tested in a central lab.

This is particularly useful to organizations that need to test their patients and/or personnel for COVID infections prior to work or activity. This test is not designed or approved for at home use.

This test is also sensitive to the newer strains of COVID emerging in the world today.

Why authorize a POC Antibody Test?

POC Serology Tests will enable more timely and convenient results for individuals who want to understand if they have been previously infected or currently contagious with the virus that causes COVID-19.
