TAMPA, FL, USA, January 26, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Originally founded in 2017 as SpaceExcess, LLC, the company evolved into AccessAerospace, LLC in 2019 to reflect the changing dynamics of the online market. The company aims to become a worldwide leader in providing online space, aviation, artifacts and collectables, instrumentation, telescopes, cameras, astronomical photographic equipment, aviation real estate and development, turnkey observatory/planetarium development marketplace and services, and much more.

The company sells a variety of iconic commercial, private, and business jets as well as Wright Brothers Flyers and Gliders. The Wright Brothers Flyers and Gliders are provided by The Wright Experience in Warrenton, VA, a 30-year-old, national award-winning manufacturing business that uses authentic engineering and manufacturing techniques to restore or reproduce Wright Flyers and Gliders. AccessAerospace, LLC's aviation products feature the 1911 Wright Model B Flyer with original working Wright vertical-four engine. The company also has experimental aircraft sales that feature two X-Racers (Rocket Plane Racers) that were previously flown under experimental FAA airworthiness certificates at publicly attended airshows under corporate sponsorship. These are being offered through AccessAerospace.com by a former owner of the Rocket Racing League.

An example of the AccessAerospace's aviation real estate products is their recent listing for sale of the North Orlando Airport near Orlando, Florida. This is a 60+ acre multiple parcel ID property that includes 55.12 acres in Orange County and 6.01 acres in Lake County. Orange County land has been designated a "Growth Center," which allows special zoning and development opportunities.

AccessAerospace is excited to be part of this industry growth area by representing a broker who has the listing from the owners of the property. An extensive study of this property was commissioned in support of the Growth Center designation that focuses on Aerospace/Manufacturing/OEM type development.

AccessAerospace is currently running a promotion to win a DJI Tello Drone. FREE entry to this just requires registration as a seller or buyer on the AccessAerospace.com website. The promotion ends on March 30th, 2021 and winners will be randomly selected on March 31st, 2021
