"There are many shared reasons why patients come to me for orthognathic surgery. I meet with each patient individually and spend time with him or her to really get to know their issues. After a thorough examination, I can offer a personalized surgical and treatment plan," explained Dr. Alex Rabinovich, head of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery San Francisco. "After years of experience, my goal is to pinpoint specific problems to ensure the success of any potential jaw (orthognathic) procedure."
