"The airline industry is facing unprecedented challenges due to the effects of COVID-19 which will undoubtedly be felt long after the pandemic is over. Our plan is different and I believe it will dramatically change the way airlines operate," said Avatar's Founder and Chief Executive Officer Barry Michaels.

Just one of the many areas that make Avatar different is it's everyday, every seat, every day ultra-low fare (all seats, all flights $99 or less) when purchased 30 days or more in advance. Add to this its multi-revenue streams, including external and inflight advertising, cargo and partnerships with popular vacation destinations as well as several others.

"By exclusively operating a fleet of Boeing 747-400s, with 581 seats Avatar Airlines will also open its sizable cargo doors to accommodate the projected rise in demand for cost-effective commercial hauling solutions, even after the pandemic recedes. The demand for shipping cargo was already sky-high before COVID-19, but the pandemic has put the squeeze on companies seeking cost-effective solutions to move their products quickly and efficiently from point to point," said Michaels. "Using the extra space of 747s will allow Avatar to offer very competitive commercial hauling rates, in addition to ultra-low passenger fares."
