/EINPresswire.com/ -- Silicon Valley Hair Institute, a leading hair loss treatment center based in Foster City but serving the Bay Area from San Francisco to Palo Alto to San Jose at <https://siliconvalleyhairinstitute.com/>, is proud to announce an update to its hair transplant before and after photos page. An image gallery exhibits how real SVHI patients can see recovery from hair loss to thicker hair. Photo-specific evidence concerning hair loss surgery could help individuals set clear expectations for hair loss procedures.

We are the first to admit that each patient can experience different results from hair loss treatment. Setting clear expectations before treatment is important to us.”

“We are the first to admit that each patient can experience different results from hair loss treatment. Setting clear expectations before treatment is important to us,” explained Miguel Canales, MD. “The updated before and after gallery helps the community see the effects of hair loss treatments that others have experienced, but there is no substitute for a private one-on-one consultation.”

Men and women researching hair loss treatments can review the updated gallery page for Silicon Valley Hair

Institute at <https://siliconvalleyhairinstitute.com/before-after/>. Optimized images for hair transplant before and after photos help Bay Area individuals download and browse hair loss patterns similar to their own. Various treatments can include robotic surgery and women's hair loss protocols. Residents along the Bay Area Peninsula in cities including Palo Alto, San Jose, Sunnyvale, and Atherton can reach out for a no-obligation virtual consult

Dr. Miguel Canales can manage a thorough discussion for individual hair treatments via video chat. The aging process could be a reason for thinning hair and sagging skin. It should be noted that the company also offers a sister website focused on skin care for San Mateo, Foster City, and Burlingame, California. For instance, persons seeking solutions for aging issues, including skin rejuvenation, can visit the ULTherapy page at <https://svaestheticderm.com/ultherapy/>. A combination of cosmetic dermatology services and hair treatments might provide the best answers to a more youthful appearance.
