We have had tremendous success with managing COVID-19 within the film production industry in southern California. A Los Angeles presence just makes sense for us.”

Axiom Medical CEO Mark Robinson

Based in The Woodlands, Tex. just north of Houston, Axiom Medical has developed a strong clientele in the Hollywood TV and film production industry in the last year. Clients have included Jax Media for the HBO Max series Haute Dog, the TBS production of Wipeout, Sylvester Stallone's film, The Samaritan, and the People's Choice Awards TV show.

In addition to serving the film industry, Axiom's Los Angeles satellite provides health and safety support to colleges, universities, school districts, energy-related companies, retailers, and manufacturers with population health testing and COVID-19 management. Axiom works with a diverse portfolio of business entities across North America.

Axiom introduced its cutting edge CheckIn2Work app last spring, which is the foundation of a specialized and layered workplace testing and screening service. Their complete scope of services includes onsite testing and At-home Test kits, vaccine management, health and safety support, Contagious Respiratory Illness Assessment, and CheckIn2Work Daily Employee Screening.

"We have had tremendous success with managing COVID-19 within the film production industry in southern California," says Axiom Medical CEO Mark Robinson. "Axiom's team, under our Chief Medical Officer Dr. Scott Cherry, provided onsite testing for several TV and film companies in 2020, which resulted in no or low positivity, validating the efficacy of our protocols and procedures."

"A Los Angeles presence just makes sense for us," continues Robinson. "We know that effective, science-based solutions are the key to mitigating infections in the workplace, no matter if it's the film production industry or another business or service sector."

The new office is located in the Burbank area of Los Angeles and is by appointment only. Axiom Medical has equipped the new space to fulfill all onsite testing and other occupational health services.
