The Houstonian Club will preserve its Texas-chic charm while elevating the experience with upscale, modern spaces.

HOUSTON, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, February 10, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Houstonian Club, a nationally recognized health and fitness facility of The Houstonian Hotel, Club & Spa and a Forbes Four-Star property, moves forward with a $23.5 million renovation plan beginning in March. Located on 27 wooded acres in the middle of the Galleria area of Houston, Texas, the independent property was once the home of President and Mrs. George H. W. “

This design is really to elevate the high level of service The Houstonian already provides. Life isn't just about doing things; life is about living it so there will be spaces to slow down.”

“We are fortunate to have such an exceptional property with many unique buildings and open spaces,” said John Durie, President and CEO of Redstone Group Ltd., which owns The Houstonian. “This renovation confirms our commitment to maintain our status as one of the most enduring luxury properties in Texas,” he said.

Renovation plans include a new indoor and outdoor restaurant overlooking the resort and sports pool areas, redesign and expansion of multiple group exercise studios, new indoor turfed performance zone, and renovated childcare areas. The renovation will take place in three phases over 18 to 24 months in order to minimize the disruption to programs, services and members' experience. The Houstonian Club renovation follows the renovation of the hotel's beautiful guestrooms and suites, and the renovation of the award-winning Trellis Spa, which now includes an outdoor Soaking Pools & Garden therapeutic experience.

Huitt-Zollars Inc. is the architect of record for the Houstonian Campus, and Forney Construction will fill the role of construction manager and general contractor. Kay Lang & Associates has been chosen as the interior designer. Fabiano Designs, known for its expertise in the club industry, will direct the club project.

“So many memories have been made here. We are evolving, and guaranteeing this property, which bears the name of our city, will be here for another 40 years. These new components are dynamic and will be exciting news for our club members and guests. We look forward to ushering in a new chapter in the continuing story of this iconic property,” said Durie.
