NEW SOUTH WALES, AUSTRALIA,
February 11, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/
-- Award winning Hunter Plastic Surgery have welcomed one of Australia's most experienced surgeons to their team.

Associate Professor Dr James French is now offering surgery in Newcastle as part of the Hunter Plastic Surgery team.

Hunter Plastic Surgery Welcomes Dr James French

Plastic Surgeon Dr Nick Moncrieff said Dr French is a Specialist General Surgeon who has over 30 years experience in medicine and surgery and is a Fellow of the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons.

I have a passion for helping patients and look forward to making life a little easier for Newcastle women.”

“He supervised some of my training in Sydney over 20 years ago,” he said.

“Due to overwhelming demand from women in Newcastle, I asked Dr French if he'd be willing to join my practice and help even more local women lead healthier, happier lives.”

Specialist Surgeon Dr French has been transitioning into the Hunter Plastic Surgery team in recent months, working alongside Dr Moncrieff in the operating theater and in the clinic. He officially started operating on Newcastle patients this week.

Having Dr French join the team means Hunter Plastic Surgery will be able to offer more choice in terms of their surgeon, operating dates and fees.

Dr French can currently see patients as soon as early March with surgery within a month after that. By way of contrast, the wait to see Dr Moncrieff and secure a surgical date is around 5 months.

Dr French said it was easy to agree to joining Dr Moncrieff and his team. "I've known Nick for over 2 decades, and we have always enjoyed a great working relationship, sharing knowledge and experience over the years," he said.

"I have a passion for helping patients and look forward to making life a little easier for Newcastle women."
