“We are fortunate to have real-world leaders assist the private sector with economic recovery. They help us take some control of the dynamics of change during this global pandemic crisis,” said Puga Ortiz Partner Cristian Edwards. According to Dr. Lucian Cernat, Head of Global Regulatory Cooperation and International Procurement Negotiations at the European Commission, “as part of Industry 4.0, Internet of Things (IoT) will redefine the transatlantic economic ties. Recent major cyber-incidents reconfirmed the global nature of cyber-threats and the need for closer transatlantic cooperation to improve security standards along supply chains. The Sanford & Hall Report offers an excellent opportunity to address these issues.”

Esti Peshin, Vice President and General Manager of the Cyber Division at Israel Aerospace Industries also added, “this episode of The Sanford & Hall Report is a must view, as it discusses how in the COVID-19 era, governments, critical infrastructures, enterprises, and private citizens must strive to maintain an ongoing balance between business continuity and cybersecurity.”

The notable lineup for the March 11th episode on International Cyber Policy includes:

- Dr. Lucian Cernat, Head of Global Regulatory Cooperation and International Procurement Negotiations, European Commission
- Russell Harrison, Director of Government Relations, IEEE–USA
- Jeff Schermerhorn, Willis Towers Watson’s Regional Leader, FINEX, Cyber/E&O
- Dr. Rhonda Farrell, Founder of Cyber and STEAM Global Innovation Alliance; U.S.M.C. Veteran
- Christine Runnegar, Board Member of Internet Security Research Group

Attorney Adriana Sanford is an award-winning cybersecurity law expert with multiple law degrees, an international TV commentator, who appears regularly as a CNN en Español analyst to 93+ million viewers, and an American Program Bureau keynote at some of the world's top technology, legal, and security industry conferences, including Private Equity International's 2021 Private Fund Compliance Forum. The Notre Dame and Georgetown-educated lawyer, who is fluent in four languages and licensed to practice law in California, was featured in Women in Security: Changing the Face of Technology and Innovation. She co-authored books on global threats that were adopted by Institute for Supply Management, which is the world's largest institute for supply chain leaders.

The host of The Admiral's Almanac, Rear Adm. Hall (USN), received a political appointment to serve as a senior director at the White House's National Security Council and as special assistant to the president for National Security Affairs. On the NSC, he was responsible for human rights, humanitarian assistance, immigration and migration, United Nations operations, and democracies. A graduate of the United States Naval Academy he served 35 years on active duty. A naval aviator, he flew anti-submarine warfare helicopters and commanded two squadrons. Additionally, he commanded the capitol ship USS Tarawa LHA 1, which had a complement of 1000 Sailors, 2000 Marines, 32 aircraft, and 3 landing craft. As a Flag Officer, he served as General Tommy Franks Information Operations Officer at the beginning of Operation Iraqi Freedom, served with NATO in the United Kingdom, commanded an Expeditionary Strike Group deployed to the Middle East, and led a Senior Service college at National Defense University.

"This episode confirms the need for global policy development, implementation, and accountability," Dr. Rhonda Farrell.
