

Janet Martin Takes the Helm as President of Independent Electrical Contractors

Industry Leader. Vice President/Owner of Bret's Electric in Denver. Second Woman to Head Predominantly Male-Dominated Construction Industry Sector

DENVER, CO, USA, February 15, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- EDITOR'S NOTE: Martin is available for comment and interviews.

Independent Electrical Contractors (IEC) is pleased to announce that Janet Martin, vice president and owner of Bret's Electric in Denver will serve as the association's 2021 president.

Martin has proven herself a great leader and entrepreneur in her 30 years of corporate and small business experience. While women comprise only 10% of the construction industry, Martin is the second woman to head the predominantly male electrical and systems contracting industry organization. Martin's term began on January 1, 2021.

“

President Martin is a true champion of merit shops in America. She has served the industry and IEC locally, regionally, and nationally. For more than 10 years she has advanced our vision”

Spenser Villwock, IEC CEO

virtues of IEC.”

Martin became a member of IEC shortly after her business opened its doors in 1993 and believes the value IEC provides to its members is priceless. She credits serving on IEC national committees and attending events around the nation with keeping Bret's Electric one step ahead of major industry changes.

Hot Industry. Cool Career.

"I know the positive impact and exceptional value IEC provides to merit shop electrical businesses across the nation," said Martin. "Along with providing training to more than 13,000 apprentice electricians annually, IEC is the leading voice for the merit shop community and supports our interests on Capitol Hill. During my 2021 term, the organization will place a special focus and emphasis on advocacy to ensure that we continue to grow and prosper during the new presidential administration. I look forward to giving back to the organization that helped me achieve my success and goals."

Martin serves as 2021 president and second woman to head the national Independent Electrical Contractors trade association.

Instrumental in growing Bret's Electric, a Denver-based commercial electrical contractor known for design build, from a small residential firm to a regional commercial contractor over the last three decades, Martin has a wealth of experience in human resources management, investments, marketing, sales, recruiting, customer service, payroll, accounting, construction bonds, and electrical permits – all of which she will bring to her term as president of IEC.

###

About Independent Electrical Contractors

Independent Electrical Contractors (IEC) is a nonprofit trade association federation with 53 educational campuses and affiliate IEC local chapters across the country. IEC represents over 3,300 member businesses throughout the United States and educates over 13,000 electricians and systems professionals each year through world-class training programs. IEC contractor member companies are responsible for over $8.5B in gross revenue annually and are composed of some of the premier firms in the industry.

Deborah Radman
Independent Electrical Contractors
+1 917-841-9228
deb@iecrm.org

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/535444697>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2021 IPD Group, Inc. All Right Reserved.