

Bizdata Strengthens Bizintel360 Platform with Al and Self-Service Analytics Enhancements

Bizdata Inc., a global cloud data integrations and analytics platform company has made upgrades to its existing Advanced Analytics platform Bizintel360.

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, February 17, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Bizdata Inc., a global cloud solutions company that offers modern Integration Platform as a Service (iPaaS) and Advanced Data Analytics platform to make data work better through integrated data analytics has made upgrades to its existing Advanced Analytics platform Bizintel360, by filling data and information visibility gaps, simplifying and automating preparation and integration of data, eliminating re-tooling and by driving business/IT outcomes.

COVID-19 has forced many to become technologically savvy and this has led to an increase in the data footprint of almost everyone on the planet which has effectuated cloud data integration and analytics company Bizdata Inc. to lend their expertise through the availability of Bizintel360.

The self-service analytics market is expected to dominate over the next decade. This trend has been fueled by the rapid adoption of big data across industry and sectors and the emergence of a data-driven approach. Enterprises are still struggling with manual integration and analytics processes. We aim to address these issues with Bizintel360 platform that provides point to point data encryption, automated cleaning of data and data quality enrichment while facilitating collection of data from any source and we want to offer all of this at a low cost of ownership said Ritesh Khapre, Co-Founder and Chief Product Officer, Bizdata Inc.

The company said that the product is an Advanced cloud native analytics platform that offers high-quality enterprise-wide data supply and smart real-time analysis without any coding experience. It can also link various data sources from various formats, enable root cause issue detection, reduce cycle time: Source to Goal and refresh data in real-time on the go.

Self-Service Analytics powered by Bizintel360 provides ease of understanding and straightforward data access. It allows our customers and end users to easily analyze their data by building their own reports and modify existing ones with little to no training, said Adil Mujeeb, Founder and CEO at Bizdata Inc.

The product provides descriptive, predictive and prescriptive analytics in a single platform with the power of search engine and advanced visualization. The product has been reviewed comprehensively on various platforms such as Gartner Peer Insights, G2, Capterra, Discover Cloud, Crossdeck, and is available for a free enterprise trial on Bizdata Inc.'s website.
