The RGGI Wanda SD uses either Ultraviolet C (UVC) light or Ozone to kill 99.9 percent of dangerous viruses and bacteria. Exposure to UVC light and Ozone is dangerous to humans, which is why the Wanda SD must be controlled from a space that is outside the area being sanitized. As an additional safety measure, the mobile robot is also equipped with perimeter monitoring and ultrasonic sensors that detect when someone enters the disinfection area and automatically turns off the robot.

- RGGI Signs Master Distribution Agreement with Renavotio; Includes an Initial Order of Wanda SD Disinfecting Robots

On February 9th RGGI announced it has entered into a Master Distribution Agreement with Renavotio, Inc. (OTCQB: RIII) to market and handle all of the logistical functions such as order processing, shipping, billing, and collections for the Wanda SD/SA, disinfecting robot. Renavotio focuses on three unique infrastructure opportunities, including medical protective equipment, 5G, underground utility construction, utility management, IoT, water, waste management technology, and related industries.

This agreement will free up RGGI to focus on the future design, development, and support for the Wanda SD/SA robots. The RGGI team is looking for and working to refine the Wanda model, but its engineers are also working feverously on the Pull Buddy and several other models still in the design stage. RGGI is also accepting purchase orders and invitations for the demonstration of Wanda SD.
