This iconic list identifies solution providers that deliver operational efficiencies, IT system improvements and an exceptionally high rate of return on investment for their clients. Other factors included in the selection process were high quality client guidance and the development of leading-edge solutions for today's complex IT issues. ITsavvy President and COO Munu Gandhi said, “For seven years now, CRN has officially recognized the outstanding managed services and exceptional value we provide to our clients across the U.S. and beyond. Because we are widely known for outstanding client service, the fact that client guidance was a selection criterion was important to us.”
