About learnlogic®:

learnlogic® is a division of leaderlogic, LLC which is a Management Consulting Firm that provides enterprise excellence consulting and training to some of the top brands in the world. The founder of learnlogic® Nicholas Webb (Nick), is one of the world's top keynote speakers, he has served as an Adjunct Professor and is a multiple number one best-selling author. Nick has educated tens of thousands of executives around the world through his keynote presentations. Nick realized that education itself needed to be reimagined. His idea was to leverage innovation and a higher degree of student engagement to provide far more value for both the student and the enterprise they serve. Nick invented the patent-pending NanoPacket™ technology that has a very high degree of content relevancy and density. This approach removes the fluff and increases content retention. Additionally, all of the content is based on fresh research that addresses current disruptions in the marketplace.
