She said doing these procedures on a regular basis will depend on the age of your dog or cat, if they spend more time outside or inside, and their age. There should be a regular grooming schedule in place which can be weekly or monthly which can help identify health issues well they're still at the minor stages and not major issues yet.

Brittany Golden Ballwin touts a very simple routine that can be followed by any pet owner at home. This includes brushing your pet then following up with a bath, which should include ear cleaning, eye cleaning, teeth cleaning, and trimming their nails. She said this straightforward approach to grooming will help a dog or cat look great and feel wonderful without the need for professional assistance although it is still very important for pets to see a professional groomer on a regular basis also.

Brittany Golden Ballwin said it is extremely important to choose the right pet groomer for your specific cat or dog for their regular maintenance schedule. The groomer should be certified but Brittany Golden Ballwin said that is only one part of the process in choosing a pet groomer. Brittany Golden Ballwin said grooming is not just for show, it is an important part of your pet's health and well-being.
