

MicroTech Awarded $12.6 Billion DIA SITE III IT Support Contract

TYSONS, VIRGINIA, UNITED STATES, March 9, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- MicroTech is proud to announce that The Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) has awarded MicroTech a spot on the potential 10-year, $12.6 billion Solutions for the Information Technology Enterprise III contract vehicle. SITE III provides strategic, technical, and program management guidance and support services to facilitate the operations and modernization of the agency's infrastructure, systems, and applications.

"With this award, MicroTech is thrilled to help the DIA improve integration, information sharing, and information safeguarding through the use of a streamlined, best-in-class IT approach," said MicroTech's Chief Executive Officer Tony Jimenez. "We will provide critical IT support for warfighters, policymakers, acquisition leaders, and government decisionmakers."

According to Pentagon, the DIA Virginia Contracting Activity awarded 144 companies the SITE III contract with more than half of those awards going to small businesses. The Department of Defense says that DIA expects the work to occur at government and contractor facilities in the U.S. and abroad through March 1, 2031.

SITE III includes the delivery of IT and technical support services to DIA and the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency. These services are grouped into several categories, including enterprise activities and services; infrastructure development/sustainment; application development and sustainment; support core functions; and cybersecurity services, according to the final solicitation released in July 2020.
