

How Scientology Volunteer Ministers Helped Orlando Get Through the Worst of the Pandemic

When a state of emergency was called and all non-essential services including theme parks were closed, the Church of Scientology reached out to the community.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, March 12, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Last year, Orlando, which welcomes 75 million visitors to the city each year, ground to a standstill. Theme parks closed and those who work in the hospitality and leisure industries, some 20 percent of the population, were out of work. The Church of Scientology reached out, as shown in a video on the Scientology website's interactive timeline, 20/21: A Look Back & A Look Ahead.

In times of stress, people depend on their churches for guidance and solace, but fear of contagion was keeping people from availing themselves of these services. Orlando Volunteer Ministers took on the sanitization of nearby churches and provided them with copies of educational booklets that make it easy to understand how to keep yourself and your family safe and well.

Volunteer Ministers sanitized and provided educational booklets to local churches so their congregations would know they were safe there and could learn how to keep their families well.

Volunteers fogged local churches with the most effective and safe decontaminant available.

As the pastor of the Way to Calvary Church of the Nazarene put it in a video on the Scientology website's interactive timeline, 20/21: A Look Back & A Look Ahead, the Scientologists were on the front lines. "You clean our building so we can be safe," he said. He took copies of the booklets so he could share this information with his congregation.

"Not everyone would take time to do what you are doing," said the pastor of the First Haitian Baptist Church of Central Florida. "This is a great, mighty ministry."

The pastor of the Apostolic Church of God of Orlando said the booklets were worth a million dollars to him. "The Scientology Ministry is doing this—this benefits everybody," he said.

With schools about to open last August, Volunteer Ministers partnered with community groups to provide families with food and supplies. The president of the Boricuas de Corazon Foundation described how the Volunteer Ministers began working with her last March and came every single day. "They don't miss one day," she says. "They go with us in the warehouse, they do all the sorting, all the packing."

One of the projects the Church did with this foundation was a back-to-school drive-thru held at the Church. Families began arriving at 11 in the morning and continued to 5:30 p.m. School supplies, hygiene and sanitation products, and food were placed directly into the trunks of their cars to avoid any violations of social distancing.

"We're out here making a difference for the people," said the Sheriff of Osceola County at the drive-thru, "great people who just need that hand up... You guys are tremendous and great in my eyes."

The Church of Scientology Orlando was dedicated in May 2018 by Mr. David Miscavige, ecclesiastical leader of the Scientology religion.

The Church of Scientology hosted the back-to-school drive-thru in August to provide Orlando families, out of work because of restrictions, with school supplies and food.
