DrKumo announces the availability of its next-generation massively scalable continuous real-time RPM that features multicast data live streaming to boost healthcare providers' capacity for acute care, post-operation, chronic disease management, and hospital care at home programs.

As of March 3, 2021, the U.S. Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services \(CMS\) has approved 48 systems, 109 hospitals in 29 states under its Acute Hospital Care at Home Program, a comprehensive effort to increase hospital capacity, maximize resources, and combat COVID-19 to keep Americans safe.

"Healthcare systems continue to face significant challenges to increase their capacity to making sure patients get the care they need. DrKumo RPM technology optimizes healthcare resources, increases hospital capacity, improves flexibility for care beyond the traditional hospital setting," Dr. Kelly Nguyen, DrKumo CEO.

DrKumo's multi-award-winning solutions empower patients to play an active role in managing their condition at home, and supports healthcare providers with real-time intelligence for timely intervention to improve patient adherence to care plan and medication, and improve overall health outcomes.
