Faculty, staff, alumni, parents, and organizations nationwide are invited to participate. FBMSP seeks to raise $5,000 or more for high school seniors with the generosity campaign.

Prior to 2021, scholarships were endowed by the family of the late, Frances Briggs to honor her six-decade devotion to serving and teaching students from pre-kindergarten to high school.

Last year, two California students were awarded the Frances Briggs Memorial Scholarship and received $1,000 for the 2020-2021 academic year. Pittsburg High School seniors, Joshua Rei Quisao and Alondra Yaquelin Rodriguez were named the 2020 scholarship recipients during a virtual award ceremony on May 18, 2020.

“$5,000 seems like a conservative goal until you add ‘or more,’ ” stated Fran Briggs, Public Relations Director to the Frances Briggs Memorial Scholarship Partners. “It’s our inaugural Giving Week. We project substantial growth in the years to follow. This is a concentrated and collaborative effort to deliver much-needed funds to college seniors and recognize their communities.”

Briggs added that “Every contribution made on or before Frances Briggs Memorial Scholarships Giving Week (March 22-27, 2021) matters.

Collectively, a series of $10, $20, $50, or more add to the immediate and future needs of the students. We thank and appreciate everyone who is helping us raise the value of each scholarship.”

ABOUT FRANCES BRIGGS

Frances Briggs graduated with B. A., in Education, and a minor in Music Education, from San Francisco State. She later earned a master's degree from St. Mary's College in Moraga, CA. She was a dedicated, kind, and innovative teacher that positively influenced, voluntarily tutored and mentored students for 60 years. In 1958, the globally renowned, Radio City Music Hall in New York invited her to Manhattan. There she was offered a contract to perform as a musical artist. Frances politely declined citing her commitment to her family, community, and vocation as an educator. She enjoyed gardening; traveling, teaching, writing plays; choreographing; live performances, and spending time with family and friends. Frances Briggs Memorial Scholarships Partners are committed to serving students and preserving the legacy of its namesake.
