Wild West Vintage Decor celebrates 15 years in business

“

We may be small but full of awesome treasures and are continually getting new items weekly. We have a DIY section in the store for crafters full of hard to find items so you can create your own piece.”

Decor Owner*

In 2006, the West Texas antique store got its start in an Airstream trailer, and they eventually moved into a large building to accommodate the growing number of pieces they had accumulated. The store has grown into one of Lubbock’s favorite farmhouse antique stores. Now, Wild West Vintage Decor can ship products across the United States, collecting new customers from all over the country.

Who We Are at Wild West Vintage

Wild West Vintage Decor is driven by a passion to create and to help others find the creative spirit within themselves. They put a lot of pride into their work and customer service to make sure everything is just right for their customers every time they visit the store.

A love of crafting and all things vintage turned a part-time hobby into a full-time dream for owner Lacy Jones. Fifteen years ago, Lacy and her mother, Wendy Roberts, founded Wild West Vintage Decor and began showing their unique creations at local craft malls and shows. They eventually took their store on the road, literally, after equipping and painting an Airstream trailer.

They finally opened their first storefront in 2015 in Lubbock, Texas.

Lacy Jones has been decorating spaces ever since she got out of college, and the Wild West Vintage Decor team loves to be creative and transform any space. They will help you style an entire home or office.
