Church Hill Classics Partners with DAR

"As a U.S.-based manufacturer and certified woman-owned business, we are honored to be chosen as the official frame vendor for Daughters of the American Revolution. Volunteers dedicate millions of hours to secure the future of our beautiful country, bettering education for younger generations," says Lucie Voves, Founder & CEO of Church Hill Classics. "I'm a champion of female innovators and community leaders, so collaborating with an organization encouraging women to be leaders in their communities and throughout the nation aligns perfectly Church Hill Classics."

Founded in 1890 with the mission of advocacy for the preservation and education of American history, the Daughters of the American Revolution is made up of 190,000 members in 3,000 chapters across the United States and internationally. It was formed in Washington, D.C. by a group of pioneering women seeking an outlet to express patriotic feelings, without being discriminated or excluded because of their gender. Women 18 years old or older who can prove lineal descent from a patriot of the American Revolution is eligible for membership, regardless of race, religion or ethnic background.

A ten-time Inc. 5000 Award recipient, Church Hill Classic was founded by Voves in 1991 as a home-based business, offering limited edition artwork of college campuses in the Northeast from her basement workshop. Nearly 30 years later, the Connecticut-based company is now the trusted leader in the diploma frame category.
