Jeanette Rice, President and COO of American Fidelity

To determine the list, Great Place to Work® analyzed confidential survey feedback representing more than 840,000 employees in the U.S. Great Place to Work, a global people analytics and consulting firm, evaluated more than 75 elements of team members' experience on the job. These included the extent to which employees trust leaders, the respect with which people are treated, the fairness of workplace decisions and how much camaraderie there is among the team. Companies are assessed on how well they are creating a great employee experience that cuts across race, gender, age, disability status or any aspect of who employees are or what their role is.

“Congratulations to the Best Workplaces in Financial Services & Insurance. These companies are meeting the moment. Not only have they pivoted to new ways of working, but their employees report an even better company culture than before COVID-19,” said Michael C. Bush, CEO of Great Place to Work. “The leaders of these companies can expect excellent business results thanks to their inclusive, high-trust cultures.”
