ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS, UNITED STATES, March 30, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Individuals who would like to be “in the know” when it comes to Boston sports can now take advantage of a newly updated sport blog site by industry expert Stephen Stapinski from Andover, Mass. The newly upgraded site has already generated immense traffic since its mid-March release, according to Stapinski.

The updated website, Version 2.0, can be accessed at www.stephenstapinskiandover.com. Stapinski said he chose to improve the site to make it even more intuitive after it secured higher-than-anticipated online rankings in 2020. According to Stapinski, the website drew triple the amount of traffic originally anticipated last year.

Through the newly upgraded website, readers can learn about the greatest moments as well as the best players in Boston sports. For instance, readers can discover what make the city’s professional basketball team unique compared with other teams throughout the country. For example, Boston’s basketball team is one of the national basketball league’s oldest, according to Stapinski. In addition, the team was the first one to draft a player who was African American.

Through the website, readers can also learn about Boston’s key legendary basketball players. These iconic individuals include players who have won numerous championship titles and been recognized as finals most valuable players. They have also stood out for their sportsmanship both on and off the court, according to Stapinski.

The blog website also calls attention to the biggest players on Boston’s professional baseball team and why the team remains one of the nation’s most notable ones. In addition, Stapinski uses the website to explain how Boston’s loyal multicultural and multigenerational fandom in general makes the city’s sport scene so special. All in all, the goal of the website is to encourage more people to explore the unique accomplishments of Boston’s professional sport teams and support the city’s teams on a whole new level in the seasons ahead, according to Stapinski.
