The hand cream and hand lotion market consist of sales of hand creams and hand lotions and related services. Hand creams and hand lotions are topical formulations with low to medium viscosity, intended for unbreakable skin application. Many lotions, especially hand lotions and body lotions, are developed simply to smoothen, rehydrate, and soften the skin.

Trends In The Global Hand Cream And Hand Lotion Market

The hand creams that contain healthy ingredients such as herbs and essential oils that cure and rebuild skin are a key trend in the hand cream market. For instance, aloe-based hand repair creams made with 60% aloe gel provide deep moisture to the skin for comfortable and soft hands. These creams repair dry and broken skin and can also be applied to key dry areas of the skin such as knees and elbows. The subtle scent that these natural ingredients leave behind also appeals to the use of this cream more frequently.
