

World Traveler Reveals Credit Card Hack to Entrepreneurs in New Reach Education's 'Credit Stacking' Course

New Finance Course Teaches Students How to Fund their Business and Travel For Free

TEMPE, ARIZONA, USA, April 13, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Jack McColl, local entrepreneur, full-time traveler and skydiver, revealed the science behind funding multiple seven-figure businesses solely through lines of zero-percent-interest credit in a seven-week course that launched April 12, 2021.

Credit has completely changed the way I live. I created this course in hopes that I can assist fellow entrepreneurs change the status quo when it comes to business and travel.”

When the global pandemic hit in 2020, Jack immediately began to create a course in credit stacking to help current and soon-to-be entrepreneurs bounce back from economical hardships. Credit Stacking is the strategy of stacking multiple lines of credit in a specific order, allowing the borrower to access much larger lines of credit with additional benefits, like zero percent interest.

With over 20 credit cards to his name, McColl travels the world in luxury for a fraction of the price, due to the utilization of business cards and point-redemption strategies.

“Credit has completely changed the way I live. Being an entrepreneur most of my life, I wish I had known how high credit lines and access to zero percent credit would exponentially change the business game for me,” said Jack McColl, founder of Credit Stacking.

“I created this course in hopes that I can assist fellow entrepreneurs to change the status quo when it comes to business and travel.”

Having recently returned from a skydiving trip in Egypt, many others can create a similar lifestyle through the credit stacking strategy. Those seeking a more stable way to fund their next business venture are also invited to participate at creditstacking.com.
