

Medical Affairs Professional Society (MAPS) Releases Annual Report, Updates Board of Directors

Second consecutive year of greater than 100% membership growth

GOLDEN, CO, USA, April 15, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Medical Affairs Professional Society (MAPS) today released its annual report, showing the second consecutive year of greater than 100% membership growth, from 2,620 global members in April 2020 to 5,775 members in March 2021. Membership growth coincides with an increasing number of biopharmaceutical and MedTech organizations participating in the MAPS

Industry Partnership Program, growing from 8 to 18 participants during this time, and growth of the organization's Partner Circle program, expanding from 25 to 41 participating companies.

"2020 was a year full of historic challenges and discord. A global pandemic, unprecedented government interventions, turbulent elections, and deeply felt social and racial injustice. Many of us faced difficult personal challenges, a full year away from family, friends and colleagues, and sadly, many lives taken too soon. But there were bright spots as well. Many of our member companies found new ways to succeed. Peers from rival companies came together to stand up for good, joining forces – and resources – to help fight the pandemic and social challenges together. It was a time when organizations and individuals discovered strengths they never knew existed and found new opportunities to excel
