Two marble sculptures by Italian artist Antonio Frilli lead the listings. Active in Florence during the late 19th century, Frilli was famous for his alabaster and marble replica statues. The upcoming auction includes one "Dancing Faun" holding cymbals and one "Aphrodite" figure sculpted by Antonio Frilli. Each sculpture is listed separately with an estimate of USD 10,000 to $30,000. A marble sculpture by Pietro Ceccarelli, one of Frilli's contemporaries, is on offer as well ($10,000 – $30,000). It shows a young boy examining a fish while perching on a rock.
