

Senior Military Officers to Speak at Future Armoured Vehicles Central & Eastern Europe 2021

Senior military officers set to give essential briefings at Future Armoured Vehicles Central and Eastern Europe Conference 2021, taking place virtually in May.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY, April 21, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Building on the enormous success of the last six years, the 7th annual Future Armoured Vehicles Central and Eastern Europe conference will be an exceptional gathering of programme managers, military leaders and industry experts from the region.

Striving to enhance the development of armoured vehicle programmes, the conference will deliver insight and learning from many different nations, and will examine what they are doing to enhance and overhaul their fleets of armoured vehicles.

Interested parties can register at £499 for military and government personnel and £999 for commercial organisations on www.futurearmouredvehicles.com/EINpr5.

Taking place virtually on 17th – 18th May 2021, the conference agenda will include presentations from key senior military officers from across the region, who will be briefing on how they're modernising their armoured vehicles and working to achieve interoperability for more effective operations.

Such presentations include:

Future Armoured Vehicles Central and Eastern Europe 2021

1) 'Generating a Modernised and Interoperable Armoured Force for the Hungarian Army'
Presented by Brigadier General László Sticz, Head of Forces Planning Directorate, Hungarian
Defence Forces Command

2) 'Strategic Operations: Collaboration and Interoperability in AFV Development'
Presented by Lieutenant Colonel Robert Page, CO, Armoured Trials & Development Unit (ATDU),
British MoD

3) 'Streamlining the Austrian Armoured Divisions by Implementing New Platforms to Support
Future Operations'
Presented by Major General Norbert Huber, Director Armament and Procurement, Austrian
MoD
