

GoGo Quinoa and Lufa Farms to use compostable foil bags for packaging GoGo Puffs

LAVAL, QUEBEC, CANADA, April 28, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- GoGo Quinoa, a specialist in plant-based and organic food products, announces that its Vegan White Cheddar Puffs will be available in compostable bags for Lufa Farms' customers. These bags are made of biodegradable aluminum, a new eco-friendly technology that keeps the product fresh while being certified compostable in residential composting bins by TÜV Austria (OK compost HOME certification).

Lufa Farms aims to provide Lufavorites with fresh and local food which aligns perfectly with GoGo Quinoa's commitment to develop tasty, nutritious, and eco-responsible products for the well-being of its consumers and that of our planet.

"Food packaging is a major source of pollution," states Martin Bilodeau, founding president of GoGo Quinoa. Considering that only 9% of plastic waste is recycled in Canada, the industry must begin a transition to environmentally friendly solutions, even if these changes are gradual. We are proud to continue our commitment to reduce the use of plastic in our packaging with an organization that shares our values. "

GoGo Quinoa Puffs are made from ingredients chosen for their nutritional profile and reduced environmental impact such as organic quinoa and pea protein. They are a delicious and nutritious snack, and they also won the Retail Council of Canada's Innovation Award in 2020.
