You could say Conley's leap to the NFL was an impressive one. Conley, a third-round pick in the 2015 NFL Draft by the Kansas City Chiefs after a successful college career at the University of Georgia, still holds the NFL Combine record for the highest vertical leap of 45 inches.

The 28-year-old Conley signed a one-year deal with the Houston Texans for the 2021 season following two seasons with the Jacksonville Jaguars and four seasons with the Kansas City Chiefs.

He has emerged as a solid veteran receiver at the NFL level. Conley averaged 23.4 yards per game with the Chiefs, followed by 40.2 yards per game with the Jaguars. Conley's top pro season came in 2019 when he played all 16 games for the Jaguars, snagging 47 catches for 775 yards and five touchdowns. He is expected to land somewhere between third and fifth on the WR depth chart for the Texans this season.

Off the field, Conley is considering expanding his gaming horizons to include "Siege" and "Valorant" as well. Beyond his love of "Star Wars," he also enjoys superhero films, citing Superman and DC Comics as his favorites, and he's also a fan of the TV series, "Game of Thrones."
