Polycarbonate multiwall's panels allow for impressively high durability and impact resistance while remaining much lighter than glass.”

Christopher Isar

Adding to the material's versatility, Interstate Plastics now offers multiwall and twinwall sheets in various colors, including red, blue, green, yellow, and bronze, alongside traditional selections of translucent, opaque white, and clear transparent twinwall. Colored polycarbonate sheets feature the same benefits as their counterparts: they are double paneled and specifically designed to trap air to increase their insulation strength. This double panel structure also gives the polycarbonate multiwall its impressive durability and impact resistance while remaining twelve times lighter than glass.

Polycarbonate twinwall and multiwall have built-in UV protection and are ideal for outdoor applications like greenhouses and harsh weather applications like storm windows. Interstate Plastics also offers specialized polycarbonate twinwall grades that maximize condensate control, light transmission, and UV resistance.
