announced today an addition to the existing Independent Representative Program to now include a “Buy-Out” for the independent representative’s territories.

“The tremendous response we’ve had for the Carbon Market’s Independent representative program has led us to create a wealth creation plan for the team that helps build our success” said

Stephen H. Watkins, CEO of Entrex Carbon Market, a majority owned subsidiary of Entrex (OTC: UNSS). “These representatives deserve some compensation for the long term benefits they will be providing to the Market. We believe our program now extends the current short term commission income structure and adds a long term wealth creation opportunity for their commitment.”

“Representatives typically see their efforts compensated through short term income – but the “Buy Out” structure now creates a compelling reason for representatives to focus on building both the supply side of offsets and the demand side within their territories” said Thomas Harblin of the Entrex Carbon Market.

“Our Roper Island carbon offset futures have generated substantial interest from a number of global carbon offset buyers – these futures offer discounts to customers who commit to purchasing these offsets once properly minted and validated by the United Nations/World Bank registries. This success appears to assure producers of carbon offsets that their futures will be in demand once offered to buyers. Based on the demand we've seen, we believe we're in the early stages of an exciting and scalable market," said Watkins.
