The polybutadiene market consists of sales of polybutadiene and related services. Polybutadiene is a synthetic rubber that is formed from the polymerization process of the monomer 1,3-butadiene. Polybutadiene is abrasion-resistant and is used especially in the manufacture of tires, as an additive to improve the mechanical strength of plastics such as polystyrene and acrylonitrile butadiene styrene (ABS). It is also used to coat or encapsulate electronic assemblies, offering high electrical resistivity.

Neodymium polybutadiene (ND-PBR) rubber production is an emerging trend in the polybutadiene rubber market. Neodymium is a catalyzed synthetic polybutadiene, which has high elasticity and is resistant to dynamic stress on both high and low temperatures. It is majorly used in the manufacturing of tires, conveyor belts, golf balls, footwear, and others industry. For instance, LANXESS, a producer of neodymium polybutadiene rubber, is producing 0.14 million tones ND-PBR per year.
