

Complications with International Shipping Makes Southern Hydraulic's Made in the USA Cylinders Appealing for Businesses

Manufacturers of custom hydraulic cylinders, Southern Hydraulic has 25+ years experience producing cylinders for industries like construction and manufacturing

ATHENS, TENNESSEE , UNITED STATES , May 13, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As manufacturers and businesses around the United States struggle to source parts from overseas suppliers, the demand for quality, affordable, American made products has never been higher. Southern Hydraulic Cylinder offers an assortment of standard and custom hydraulic cylinders for customers looking to source new equipment, or change their existing supplier. Focused on providing an all-encompassing start to finish process for their clients, Southern Hydraulic handles all design, manufacturing and distribution in-house, hoping to keep their customers coming back for all future purchases or repairs.

The recent pause and restarting of overseas manufacturing has brought with it a multitude of problems for businesses in the United States. Backlogs of orders, over-crowded shipping ports with extended delays, and limited manufacturing capabilities have made the entire process of outsourcing products from overseas manufacturers frustrating and exhausting. Promising delivery of their cylinders in 6-8 weeks, Southern Hydraulic is confident they out perform their overseas competition in terms of quality, deliverability, and customer service—all while coming in at an affordable price.

Custom cylinders being their specialty, Southern Hydraulic offers single acting, double acting and telescopic cylinders intended for various applications. Available in diameters between 1"-12", and up to 14 feet in length, the hydraulic cylinders they custom craft are intended for many types of machinery and industrial equipment.

Any businesses interested in custom hydraulic cylinders should check out the Southern
