GoTen adds integration with Shopify

Fast and Easy Shopify Integration Supported by GoTen

It was reported that Shopify's total revenues improved 110% from the year-ago quarter's figure, resulting from the unprecedented e-commerce boom since the outbreak of the pandemic. This also reflects the trend of running Shopify stores to meet the increasing demand for online shopping.

Aiming to provide Shopify sellers with a more convenient dropshipping experience, the GoTen dropshipping platform starts to support integration with Shopify, which will greatly simplify the order synchronization process. Online retailers need only 3 steps to achieve the remarkable function. Only by simply logging in to the Shopify store account to give the authorization to store synchronization and location information, can the GoTen members start mapping SKU and logistics. Then it will be much easier for dropshipping sellers to track logistics information and avoid out-of-stock status. Notably, more than 1 Shopify account can be added so that online sellers running different stores will enjoy a much more simplified dropshipping experience.

Enhanced Order Processing Provided by GoTen's Shopify Integration

Thanks to the successful integration with Shopify, orders will be automatically synced all the way so that users of the GoTen platform can monitor stock updates from the suppliers and keep track of logistics information for consumers, which gives Shopify store owners full access to all-around order supervision. This will empower online retailers to centralize the selling strategies, marketing methods, and more to boost sales.

The successful integration with Shopify plays a pivotal role in the management of orders to embrace the convenience and effectiveness of dropshipping. Additionally, full access to all-around order supervision will be achieved through real-time stock updates and logistics information. In this way, online sellers can be dedicated to the optimization of selling and marketing methods to promise a sales explosion.

Additionally, the GoTen platform has supported the integration with Amazon, Wish, eBay and more to sync orders for other dropshipping sellers. Similarly, this allows online retailers using GoTen to build order automation that can save time and effort. The enhanced efficiency will contribute to more energy in the marketing methods and selling strategies.

Higher Dropshipping Sales for Shopify Dropshipping Sellers

For online retailers placing orders on GoTen, the dropshipping platform offers free and fast shipping, backed by overseas warehouses of ZongTeng, the parent company of GoTen. Over 20,000+ hot products containing home & garden, sports & fitness, toys, tools, electronics, and more are supported to be delivered to regions in United States, United Kingdom, Germany, France, and other European countries, which ensures better customer satisfaction and desired profit margin.

Notably, GoTen.com's Mega Sale is in full swing, which serves as a great promotional activity for all dropshipping sellers to drive revenues by dropshipping these top-selling items with great deals.
