The product line for the Motorola APX 900 handheld radio will now include high-capacity batteries, battery chargers, remote speaker microphones, surveillance kits, receive-only earpieces, and cases.

“By adding these products, we will be able to support those using the Motorola APX900 in critical industries such as transportation, public safety, and hospitality.” Says Nick Hohman, Vice President of Waveband Communications. “Our new line of APX 900 accessories will provide radio users with a great alternative to Motorola OEM that provides exceptional reliability while at the same time provide departments that have financial constraints with significant cost savings. As a company committed to quality and reliability, we look forward to supporting the Motorola APX 900 today and in the future.”

The accessories will be available on May 15, 2021, starting at USD 15.49. For more information on Motorola APX 900 accessories visit Motorola APX 900 product showcase page.
