eventually adhere to the Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC). This can be difficult for a small organization in which all or many of its personnel work remotely from laptops. Becoming CMMC-compliant could be a daunting task.

Earlier this year, Duffy Compliance Services launched a cloud-based platform to deliver a secure virtual desktop that provides a protected, managed environment that will not only meet the CMMC Maturity Level 3 requirements, but will also provide an almost instant turn-key CMMC compliance solution.

Duffy Compliance Services provides a full range of cybersecurity analysis services, including compliance audits, penetration testing, and vulnerability assessments. Duffy Compliance serves the following industries: government contractors who supply the Defense Industrial Base (DIB), businesses in the health and human services, and other businesses who want a secure and protected environment.

"We are excited to provide this new product to our clients and to the small government contracting market. These smaller businesses don't often have the resources and funds to throw tens of thousands of dollars at this process," said President and CEO Shawn Duffy. "With CUI-SafeHarbor, they can economically create a secured, turn-key environment that will immediately satisfy the technical requirements for CMMC regulation."
