

Psychologist Priest Fought Child Abuse From Podium, Pulpit, Couch, and Courts

WALTERVILLE, OR, USA, May 17, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- "Revelations is the story of a great man, Joseph Leo Theriault, priest, vicar, and psychologist," who, after getting his master's in divinity and becoming a priest in the Roman Catholic Church, worked for 62 years to "better mankind in opportunity, worthiness, and devotion to the teachings of Jesus Christ," says author Harry S. Wylie.

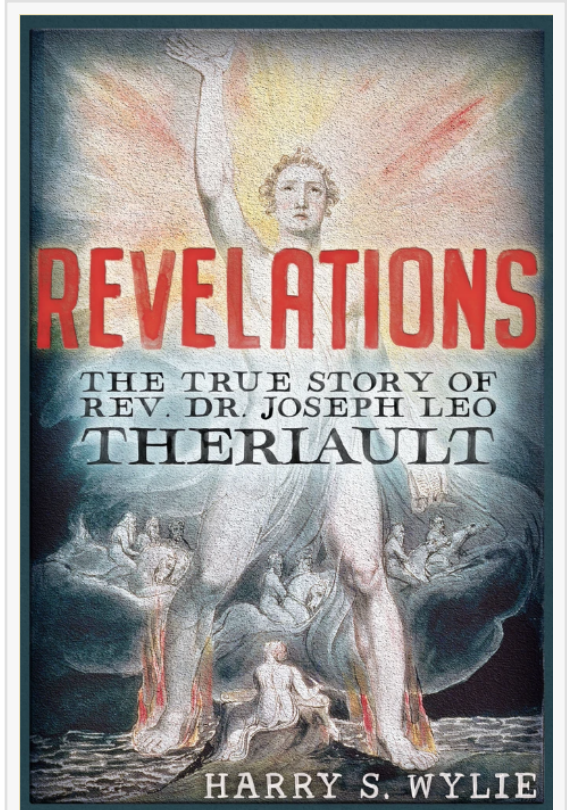

Dr. Leo knew why the Catholic Church's sex scandals occurred, and why the church is so ill equipped to control the inequities. As a Doctor of Psychology and authority on psychoanalysis, psychotherapy, and group management, he fought child abuse from the podium, the pulpit, the couch, and the courts.

As a university math professor, Doctor Leo defended students from marauding pedophile priests. He developed therapy treatment for clergy sex offenders. As a consultant to the Arizona Child Protective Services, he helped errant juveniles develop and live productive lives. And he opened the first group home in his Province of New Brunswick, where 143 function today.

No malefactor against the creeds or liturgy of the Church, Dr. Joseph Leo Theriault battled the evil manifestation of repugnant morals and mores from within.
