On April 21st Acqualina Resort & Residences announced it will present the NWYU retreat with Dr. Kellyann Petrucci on Saturday, June 5, 2021 from 10am to 5pm that includes a two-hour workshop and accompanying detoxifying treatments in the award-winning Acqualina Spa by ESPA. The NWYU retreat – designed in a small-group, socially-distanced setting – is a one-day powerhouse workshop at which Dr. Kellyann "will take an in-depth look at cleansing and resetting, which is so crucial after the incredibly stressful year we've all been through," she says. "Once you become a super fat-burner, which is what my plan teaches you to do, you will keep the weight off effortlessly, so there's no more yo-yo dieting." As an added bonus, she says you're going to load your skin with nutrients that keep it young, bouncy, and wrinkle-free, meaning less need for topical injections.

The day will be divided into sections with Dr. Kellyann describing cleansing and resetting methods, along with the benefits and how-to's of bone broth, followed by a Q&A and bone broth and cleansing food tasting. In addition, Dr. Kellyann will gift guests a copy of her Cleanse and Reset and Bone Broth Cookbook to get them started on their own healing path.

Following the workshop, participants will retreat to the elegant Acqualina Spa where they will indulge in a choice of two detoxifying treatments: either the signature Orange Blossom treatment with detoxifying Salt & Oil Scrub followed by a relaxing Herbal Poultice massage or a signature Detoxifying Algae Wrap followed by a relaxing Inner Calm massage. The Spa's private outdoor pool with Roman waterfall and relaxation lounge will offer additional elegant areas to recharge and restore.
