them achieve a greener future. As part of this announcement, A2 Hosting offered discounted hosting plans and promised to plant two trees for every package sold.

"It was important to us to continue our promise to give back to our environment and our customers while making a positive impact along the way," said Bryan Muthig, CEO of A2 Hosting. "This year we wanted to find new ways to work with Carbonfund.org and further their mission of reforestation and reduction of carbon emissions. How our company contributes to change should be purposeful and impactful and we're thankful we were able to donate to such an important cause."

A2 Hosting is excited to announce that during this promotion we were able to commit to planting 3,000 trees which will be included as part of Carbonfund's Madagascar Reforestation Project and the Kenya Reforestation Project.

Planting 3,000 new trees help offset carbon emissions equivalent to...

Planting new trees through organizations like Carbonfund allows companies to reduce their carbon footprints and lessen the impact of climate change. "We're always looking for ways to adapt and improve our green efforts."
