SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, May 20, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Filipina filmmaker, Giovannie Espiritu, and her award-winning film “ALLY 3000” will be featured on KOFY House at 5:30 PM on Sunday, May 23, 2021

The film itself is about a tech CEO who is presented with a product designed to alleviate white guilt and the cringe worthy conversations that ensue in the workplace. ALLY 3000 on the film festival circuit with an Honorable Mention at the LatinX21 Film Festival and a Best Screenplay award at the Culture and Diversity Film festival which praised ALLY 3000 as a “smart, inventive comedy.” Since then, it has garnered over 10 awards and 4 nominations on the international circuit in the categories of scriptwriting, social justice, and directing. The episode of KOFY House will also delve into cast interviews, the creative process, and features Espiritu’s early work, “Ultra-Feminist,” which took a surprise Honorable Mention win at the prestigious Outfest Film Festival and began her foray into story creation.

Filmmaker and actress Giovannie Espiritu says that began writing as an outlet to battle the constant sexism and undermining she experienced as a person of color in the film industry.

“Most of my work is an irreverent response to the injustice that I see in the world. I get angry, and because “angry” isn’t an acceptable emotion at times for women, it becomes transmuted into cringe comedy. I’m thankful that there are people out there that can relate. It makes me feel a little less alone in the world, and gives me more hope that we can change the status quo,” Espiritu laughs.

Chris Bollini, the host of KOFY House, is a Bay Area based movie critic known as “the Blue Jean Critic” and is a Critics Choice member.
