Forbes Recognizes The Barrett Group as One of America's Top Recruiting and Temporary Staffing Firms 2021

Forbes partners with Statista Inc. to present America's Best Professional Search Firms annually to honor the top professional search companies focused on placing professionals in salaries above $100,000. This year's awards featured companies in the temporary staffing, professional search, and executive search categories.

The Barrett Group, a leading international career management company, was one of the top 200 firms awarded for Executive Search. This category only recognizes recruiting firms focused on professionals earning at least $100,000.

In determining the list, Forbes and Statista focused on firms that managed to weather the COVID-19 storm and thrive in 2020, and stay ahead of the competition in 2021. They compiled the final list based on a survey of 31,000 external recruiters, including staffing experts, headhunters, and HR consultants, and more than 7,000 human resources professionals and job candidates who had recently worked with recruiting firms.

Survey participants were asked to nominate up to ten recruiting firms in the professional search, executive search, and temporary search categories. More than 26,000 nominations were collected based on the survey participants' recommendations and the previous year's findings. Firms with the most recommendations ranked the highest.

“We are pleased, but not surprised by this recognition,” said Peter Irish, CEO of the Barrett Group, “because of the continuous client landings, offers, and interviews our industry-leading career consultants help clients generate. We report these on our principal website www.careerchange.com weekly under the Hiring Line section.”

The Barrett Group greatly appreciates the honor of being nominated for and receiving the Forbes America’s Best Recruiting Firms 2021 Recognition based on peers’ and clients’ recommendations.
