

Cash to Bitcoin made simple by Symatri and Coinbridge partnership

Symatri and Bitcoin ATM (BTM) provider Coinbridge aim to make cash for BTC more accessible.

LEHI, UTAH, UNITED STATES, May 21, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Symatri and Bitcoin ATM (BTM) provider Coinbridge aims to make BTC cash accessible.

Buying Bitcoin with cash is coming to a location near you. Symatri and Coinbridge Partners have teamed up to make the Bitcoin purchasing process simpler and more accessible worldwide.

This partnership came to fruition when Symatri and Coinbridge realized they are on a like-minded mission to educate and introduce cryptocurrency to the masses.

“It’s really exciting to see a customer purchase Bitcoin for the first time using our ATM. Once their transaction is complete and the Bitcoin arrives in their wallet, they finally see how a basic Bitcoin transaction works. They realize how simple it is, get excited, and then return back to purchase more. The experience helps the industry as a whole and helps drive further adaptation.” said Manny Rivera, CEO of Coinbridge Partners.

Symatri has its own disruptive blockchain project called “Kala”. Kala is a fully functional blockchain and has an already trading coin. They also offer a fully featured Kala Wallet that offers the ability to utilize and hold multiple cryptocurrencies including Bitcoin. There is also the availability of personal hot wallet insurance within the Kala Wallet. Kala Wallet will be featured on the Coinbridge machines to give users a simple but fully featured wallet solution. Users will also be able to enjoy an introduction to the altcoin market through a rewards program. “Our
