Dedicated To Strict Safety Protocols

Royal Holiday Vacation Club has always been serious about the health and safety of its staff and guests. When people arrive at their location, they can expect to see staff wearing face coverings, and all areas of the vacation club will be thoroughly sanitized. Every step gets taken with care to make sure travelers stay safe.

It's such a risky time for people to be traveling, so Royal Holiday Vacation Club puts every protocol into place to ensure everyone's safety remains their top priority. They want every guest to feel comfortable knowing that they are taking the right steps to keep them protected.

How Royal Holiday Vacation Club Is Staying Safe

Royal Holiday Vacation Club has a Safe Guest Program in place. This program allows them to go above the standard safety protocols to make sure every guest has a safe experience while traveling. The first part of the process starts with a COVID test, and Royal Holiday Vacation Club has connections to get these tests at the best rate possible.

In the case that a customer's COVID test does come back positive, the team can help them handle the situation while ensuring that everyone else stays safe. While nobody should be traveling with COVID, there is a possibility it could happen. This is why the Safe Guest Program is set in place. If something does occur, customers will remain safe and save money.

The Safe Guest Program helps travelers who are worried about getting back out there feel safe again. Many hotels and resorts are starting to implement programs similar to this to make traveling safely possible again.

Customer's Safety Is Their Top Priority

Working together, everyone can make getting back to normal a real possibility. These safety measures that are being taken in the hospitality industry are there to help people get there sooner. That is why health and safety is the biggest concern at Royal Holiday Vacation Club and other travel destinations.

Until the world is back to normal, proper safety protocols will continue to be the main priority at Royal Holiday Vacation Club. The team is paying close attention to any changes and announcements that occur. They will continue to treat each location with the necessary protocols ensuring that safety stays their number one priority.
