“Anuj has extensive work experience, excellent project management skills, and a deep understanding of the U.K. market. We are confident he is the right candidate to lead us in the U.K. We will gradually add local resources in the U.K. and other countries in the EU,” said Jaydeep. In its report - The U.K. Cybersecurity Sectoral Analysis 2020 - the Department for Digital, Culture, Media, and Sport (DCMS) said U.K.'s security industry had seen a rise in security investments, annual revenue, and employment.

The revenue in 2019 rose to £8.3 billion ($10.8 billion), and investments jumped to £348 million ($452 million), while the employment figure crossed 43,000. This was before the Covid-19 pandemic. Cyberattacks have gone up manifolds globally since the pandemic outbreak.
