

2 Weeks to go Until SMi's Military Space USA 2021

SMi Group Reports: The 2nd Annual Military Space USA 2021 will be taking place virtually in just two weeks on June 7th to 9th 2021.

LONDON, ENGLAND, UK, May 26, 2021 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With just two weeks remaining until the conference, SMi Group are proud to announce that the 2nd Annual Military Space USA 2021 will take place as an online virtual event on June 8th – 9th 2021 with a brand-new Disruptive Technology Focus Day on June 7th.

For many years, the US has dominated the space domain and its overwhelming superiority across the other warfighting domains has ensured that this domination was rarely challenged. However, more recently the space domain is becoming increasingly competitive: near-peer adversaries are flexing their muscles, irregular threats are rife in the cyber domain, and there are growing calls for modernization within the US space enterprise to arrest this shift in momentum. This conference will address these issues head-on. With briefings, discussions, technology demonstrations, and a whole day dedicated to disruptive technology, the US military space enterprise will gather to respond to the urgent challenge.

Interested parties can register for the conference at $399 for military and government personnel and $1499 for commercial organisations.

Registration for the Focus Day is $199 for military and government personnel is $499 for commercial organisations. Register at www.milspaceusa.com/pr9

Just some highlights of the esteemed speaker line up at this year's conference include:

- Mr Mike Dean, DoD SATCOM Chief, US DoD CIO
- Mr Joseph Vanderpoorten, MILSATCOM Advanced Concepts, Portfolio Architect, Space and Missile Systems Center, US Space Force
- Mr Michael Nichols, Chief, Commercial SATCOM Solutions Branch, Commercial Satellite
