This six-song collection takes children on a musical journey, from the oceanic vibes of the first track, "Stars and Dots;" to the forest with "Like a Tree;" and going deeper in the ground with "Seeds Song." Along the way, kids can march to "Strong in the Lord;" enjoy the electronic energy of the title track, "I Am a Worshipper;" and sing along with the sweet simplicity of "Forever and Today."

Tiffany confesses, "I had no idea I was writing kids songs; these were just the songs that naturally poured out of me, and then when I played them at an open mic event, someone commented how great my 'kids songs' were and suggested I make an album. That was the first time I realized that I was writing music for children."

Since then, Tiffany has played her songs for children at The Cause in Brea, Calif., Mount Baldy Village Church in Mount Baldy, Calif., and Emmanuel Church in Abilene, Kan., as well as at summer camps and in after-school programs. She met Anthony, who became her music producer and then her husband, at CBS Studios in Hollywood on his birthday in September 2018.
