PrintPapa offers economical solution for the entrepreneurs to market their brand by means of fullcolor roll labels that are durable, & aesthetically appealing.

SANTA CLARA, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, June 2, 2021

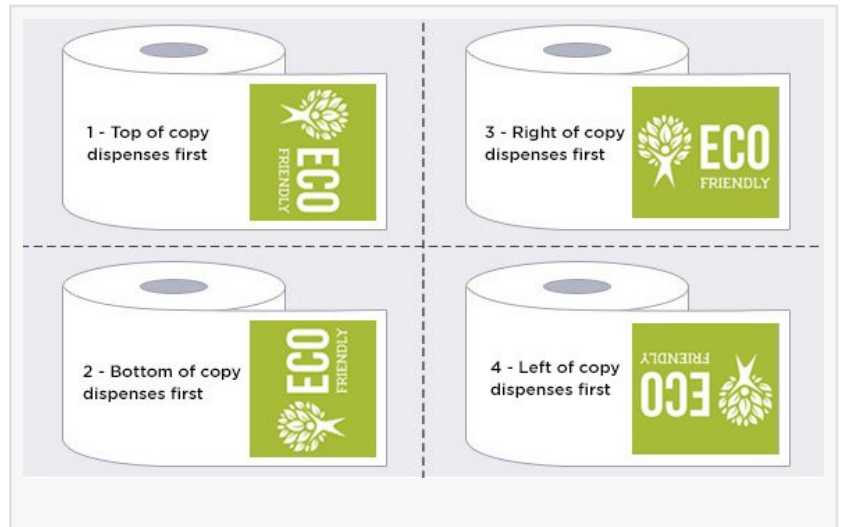

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Santa Clara, California (The United States): Small businesses and startups often pause as it comes to investing in printing services. They are confused about what services are essential for the business and what are not. Well, if it is about packaging, something that entrepreneurs shouldn't take lightly is a roll-labels printing service. Initially, it might make financial sense to print own labels on the packages to save expenses. However, with expansion in the business, the use of sheet labels becomes a headache. Businesses need something fast yet economical without compromising the quality. And PrintPapa is there, as always, for the business people to serve quality products at the best rates.

So introducing PrintPapa Full Color Roll Label printing services. With the investment in 2 production lines - one for Inkjet printing and the second is a digital die-cutting line, we are ready to produce roll labels in any quantity, shape, and size of your choice. They are full-color printed on White BOPP substrate with permanent adhesive and can be laminated for durability. With low minimums of 50, these can be used as product labels, packaging labels, warning labels, name labels, asset labels, shipping & mailing label, wine label, jar label, business labels, and so on.

We got the opportunity to talk to Mr. Shawn Nag, co-owner of Printpapa. He said, “This year has been quite tough for all of us. Businesses have suffered a tremendous loss. We are not sure of the coming days as well. Keeping the uncertainty in mind, people are becoming frugal. They have become much more diligent about where to spend and where not than ever before. The business community is no different. And investing in printing products is not out of the list. But businesses need some of them invariably. Custom die-cut roll labels are one of them. They economically market your brand while being aesthetically appealing. We have kept the price low so our fellow people can afford them.”.
