In an age where we constantly ask for answers about the struggle and pain, we deal with and have to deal with, giving up is probably the go-to way out for us. Why is it that we tend to cease making an effort whenever difficulty comes into our way?

Maureen Schuler led an interesting life as a nun, middle school teacher, and cloistered nun, she contemplated on the words of God the Father to St. Catherine of Siena and pondered how it worked within the scope of her life experiences.

For over the years, Schuler took the time to come up with a book that would remind people about the value of suffering. Written along with her life experiences, Schuler boldly and honestly shares all of it from a contemplative point of view as she genuinely shows how she deals with her inward battles to reach her resolutions. The experiences Schuler encountered from the struggle of living through both World War and the Great Depression down to her career are dauntlessly depicted throughout the book.

We Make Stories Come To Life Through Self Publishing

Deftly guiding readers of understanding God's manifestation of love, Schuler sheds new light on how people should recognize how we came into this life. She also shows how accepting God's Divine plan, both the beautiful and the difficult, allows Him to restore our soul to the glory intended for us.

Schuler's depiction of her life and understanding of it gives readers a new perspective that would evoke perception about life in general. She deliberately traces back her life down from her ancestors and gives a thought about how they influence her character development. Schuler beautifully leaves her readers a sense of consciousness in dealing with hardships. True to its title, Maureen Schuler gives a powerful piece that inspires individuals.
